Casa del Acantilado — Marbella Villa Book

Casa del Acantilado is yours — an invented grand villa stepping down the La Zagaleta hillside above Marbella, delivered as one keepsake book with the walkthrough film, the plan set, and the render set riding alongside. The book is the main event: thirteen designed spreads that walk the house down its slope, from the quiet arrival against the mountain, through the great room where the sea finally opens, down the sleeping levels, and out to the infinity edge dissolving into the golf and the Mediterranean. It's the object a serious buyer holds after the walk-through has done its work. The film is the moving companion — one unhurried, silent descent that ends on the view. The plan set is drawn to a contractor's bar, floor plans per level plus a section cut through the slope. Every render and every frame is the same villa on the same hillside — no drift, no rock, one building start to finish.

1. The Book — Casa del Acantilado: The keepsake volume, and the heart of the package. Thirteen designed spreads that walk the villa down its La Zagaleta hillside and close on the infinity edge dissolving into the sea. Open this first — it's the object a serious buyer holds.
2. The Walkthrough Film: One continuous, unhurried descent through the house, out to the sea. Silent by design. Watch it beside the book — the book to hold, the film to feel the house move.
3. The Plan Set: Floor plans for every level plus the section through the slope, drawn to a contractor's bar. The set your architect and builder will want in front of them.

Filed under Extras (reference and supporting material):

- The Concept & Program: The thinking beneath the renderings — how the levels are arranged, why they step the way they do, the materials, the idea holding it together.
- Render — the villa on its hillside
- Render — the arrival
- Render — the great room
- Render — the kitchen
- Render — the primary suite
- Render — the infinity edge
