Standing conformation look, left side. Standing and in-hand video available — the clip that travels with this sheet.

Every so often a horse makes the job look easy for the person on top. Cash is one of those. He is a tall, long-lined dark bay who fills your eye standing still and then goes in the ring and simply does it — a quiet rhythm to the jumps, a careful front end, and a brain that stays with you when the plan changes.

He is the kind of jumper a confident amateur or a junior with a trainer dreams about: scopey enough to keep moving up, honest enough that he hunts the next fence for you rather than against you, and adjustable enough that a half-halt means something. He does the changes automatically, lands on his lead, and comes back without a fight.

ON THE FLAT & OUT OF THE RING

Uphill and through the back, with a big, four-beat walk and a trot that covers ground without running off with you. He hacks out alone or in company, stands at the mounting block, and is the same horse on day three of a show as he is at home. No stall vices, good to load and ship.

Holsteiner mare line Stamm 318d — a damline long associated with scope and careful jumpers. A deep, modern jumper cross top and bottom.

JUMP & TEMPERAMENT

Brave to a fill, careful with the rails, and fast enough to be competitive in a jump-off without needing to be chased. He reads a line and lets you ride forward to it. Where a greener horse might back off a bright jump or a liverpool, Cash keeps his rhythm and leaves them up.

On the ground he is a gentleman — good for the vet, the farrier, and clipping, easy to catch, and sensible for turnout. He can be a touch fresh the first morning somewhere brand-new, which a day of turnout or a longe sorts out. He is not a beginner's horse; he wants a rider who will organize him and then trust him.

SUITABILITY

Confident adult amateur or a capable junior, with a trainer. Right now he is a genuine 1.30m horse showing 1.35m, with the scope to keep climbing in the right program. He would also make an honest, careful equitation or hunter-derby mount for the right rider who wants a horse they can win on this year.

THE HONEST PART

He is not a push-button beginner horse. Cash is kind and uncomplicated, but he is a real jumper with an engine. He wants a rider who will set him up and then let him do his job — a confident amateur or a junior with a trainer in the program. Over-ride him and he gets quick; organize him and he is a saint.

A touch fresh on a new first day. Somewhere brand-new he may feel up for a morning. A hand-walk, turnout, or a longe before you get on, and he settles into the same horse everyone knows. Nothing malicious — just a horse who likes his job.

Routine maintenance. Like most horses doing this job, he gets his hocks maintained about once a year as part of a normal program. He is sound, in full work, and vets clean on current films — this is disclosure, not a warning.

No white, identified by chip. He is a solid dark bay with no markings, so he is identified by microchip, passport, and whorls rather than by socks or a star. Everything on his papers matches the horse.
