It's yours, Hicham — "Naacho Saari Raat" (Dance All Night), your upbeat Bollywood dance anthem.

Open the Play & Share video first — press play right there in the workbench and you'll hear the whole thing, cover art and all. The full track is sitting beside it as its own file if you want it on a playlist or on your phone, and the cover art is there as a high-res image too.

What landed: a 2:43 festive wedding-floor number — driving dhol and a four-on-the-floor beat, bright brass and synths, a confident Hindi lead with crowd chants, and a hook built to be shouted back: "Naacho saari raat, naacho be-hisaab!" Real Hindi lyrics, proper verses and choruses, the drop where you want it.

Give it a listen. If you want to dial it — harder club energy, more wedding-shehnai flavour, a female or duet vocal, a shorter radio cut, or a different cover mood — tell me and I'll spin it your way.
