

Start here

Open this first: Nowhere To Be — Studio Session (Performance).

It's yours, Hicham — "Nowhere To Be" now comes with a face. The performance video is the first thing on your workbench: press play and the song is sung straight to you, one warm studio session from the first note to the last chord ringing out into the rain.

The original video, the song on its own, and the cover art all stay right where they were, just beneath it — so if you'd rather drop the track in a playlist or keep the simpler version, it's all still there. Take the whole thing anytime with Download kit.

One honest note, same as I said above: the shot stays close and warm on his face, and his hands move with the music rather than playing note-accurate chords — the intimate-session read, which is the right one for a song this quiet. If you ever want the playing itself dead-accurate, that's a different build and I'll take it on gladly.

Happy rainy Saturday. There's nowhere to be but here.

What is in the kit

1 Nowhere To Be — Press Play

video/nowhere-to-be.mp4

Your rainy Saturday song. Press play — the scene drifts in, the song runs, and it fades out soft at the end. Two and a half minutes of nowhere to be but here.

2 Nowhere To Be — The Song

song/nowhere-to-be.mp3

The song on its own, to drop in a playlist or keep on your phone.

3 Nowhere To Be — Studio Session (Performance) (open this first)

video/performance-full.mp4

Press play — the whole song sung to you, one warm studio session start to finish.

Filed under Extras

4 Nowhere To Be — Cover Art

Extras/cover.png

The square cover — a steaming mug, a wool blanket, rain on the glass, autumn blurred beyond.