

Start here

Open this first: Golden Hour Highway — press play.

It's yours, Hicham — "Golden Hour Highway." Everything's on your workbench, and the one to open first is "Golden Hour Highway — press play": hit it and the song runs straight through, a soft voice floating high over fingerpicked guitar, pads stretching to the horizon, reverb carrying it, lots of air between the lines. Three and a half minutes, slow cinematic build, windows down the whole way.

Alongside it: the track on its own to drop onto your phone for the actual drive, the cover as a square sleeve, and the words if you ever want to sing along. That's the whole Sunday afternoon, bottled.

Put it on, go find a road. If a line wants to change or the mood wants to tilt anywhere, say so and we'll steer it.

What is in the kit

1 Golden Hour Highway — press play (open this first)

`song/golden-hour-highway.mp4`

Press play and the song runs straight through — three and a half minutes of windows-down Sunday drive, the open road running to the golden-hour horizon the whole way.

2 Golden Hour Highway — audio only

`song/golden-hour-highway.mp3`

The track by itself, to drop onto your phone or into a playlist for the actual drive.

3 Golden Hour Highway — cover

`song/cover-sleeve.png`

The square sleeve, in case you want an album-cover version of it.

Filed under Extras

4 Golden Hour Highway — the words

`Extras/lyrics.pdf`

The full lyric, if you ever want to sing along on the drive.